Frightful Accident on the tible and Mississippi Railroad.

We are called upon to record another serious rangead Scoldent, which, though no. ..... fatal as many others, is nevertheless, of a frightful character—the more so, as by the nature of the chaualty we can scarcely conjecture flow a fearful loss of life was avoided.

As the ten o'clock night train was passing along the banks of the canal, a short distance below Delhi, and about twelve miles from this city on Saturday last, a rotten tie gave way under the weight of the engine, which caused a rail to break. The angine, however, passed over in safety, but the baggage car tore up the rail, thereby throwing the train off the track, the first car falling bottom side up, full twenty feet off. The second car was thrown partly off and was badly broken. The third was capsized into the canal, and partly filled with water, and would have been entirely submerged and the passengers drowned, had the coupling gave way; fortunstely this was not the case, although all state that under the circumstances it is impossible to conceive how it held together against the shock it received. below Delhi, and about twelve miles from this against the shock it received.

The cars were twenty minutes behind time, and were going at the rate of about thirty miles per hour. All the passengers unite in acknowledging their gratitude to the Conluctor, Dr. Fay, who they say deserves great credit for his conduct. The following is a list of passengers on the train, as near as could be ascertained, and which was kindly furnished us by D. W. V. Rollo, agent for Grover & Baker, dealers in sewing machines, who was one of them.

Dickburn, of Covington. On Friday night hat an occurrence on his own pict for the benefit of the participants therein can one readers generally:

It appears that the Dr. and Miss Blackburn loved each other, but were rather loth to leave the state of single blessedness. Dr. S. loved the young lady ardently and devotelly, and, in return, was the possessor of the fair being's purestaffaction. They knew not why they had warted, but knew they had been waiting for some time. On Friday last, the young lady with a party of Alexandria, thirde the Campbell County Fair, held near Alexandria, the residence of her lover. While fluore the br. Speed her, and, after the usual recognition consumony, proposed a strong which was acquiesced to by the lady. What issued by the mother carried, and the residence of the bridegroom's mother a wedding upon their return. Just as night had cast her sable form of mother earth, the parson was sent for to perform the cremony, which was to take place at the residence of the bridegroom's mother.

The house was crowded with the friends of the two alount to be dim linished to one. The minister arrived, and in a few minutes everything was pronounced ready. A parses, a slience, then the voice of the minister was heard slowly and solemnly—a few moments passed and the loving couple were pronounced man and wife. Then followed a scene of merriment and enjoyment, in which all participated we wish the Doctor and his fair bride a pleasant loutney through life in their new sphere. May comfort and content attend them, for we feel certain they are—

The California Trade.

With the departure of the last California steamer is closed the arrangements for travel on that route, which have hitherto existed between the United States Mail line, and the between the United States Mail line, and the Pacific Mail line of steamers. Hereafter, sharp war is to be carried on by two organizations of immense wealth, experience and backbone in steamship handling.

Valderbilt, M. O. Roberts and Garrison have consolidated together, and taken the business of the United State Mail steamship line, with all its steamers, its piers, offices and fixtures, which they will use in carrying on the most deadly competition with the North Atlantic Steamship Company and Pacific Mail Company combined. The latter have the steamers Adriatic, Haltic and Atlantic to fight with on this side, and a fleet of good and poor steamers on the Pacific side. They have changed their office to the pier foot of have changed their office to the pier foot of Canal-street, which is hereafter to be used by that line.

The Vanderbilt Company has the mail contract (of $187,000,) and its departures will be on the 5th and 20th of each month, as heretofore. The line on this side will be the neretofore. The line on this side will be the new iron steamship Champion, Capt. Fletcher; the North Star and Northern Light. The Granada, Philadeiphia and Empire City will probably perform the service between New York and New Orleans, connecting at Havana as at present. The steamers Moses Taylor, Star of the West and Illinois, will be laid up for the time hains. The mails will be up for the time being. The mails will be carried via Aspinwall till the Niagars route is opened, which will be in the course of a few months. The mail contract obliges them to do the service in as quick a time as is made by any other line - New York Times.

Railroad Accident in the Northern Part of This State.

We quote from our "Extra" of yesterday the following brief account of a railroad accident. A portion of the passengers came to this city in yesterday morning's train. Their baggage had been so scattered about, and the checks so displaced, as to cause considerable confusion. It is expected the missing baggage will be brought down to-day. The train leaving Pittsburg on Saturday morning for Cleveland, on reaching a point near Industry, thirty-five miles from Pittsburg, ran into a "wash" caused by recent rains, throwing the train off the track over honorable as their profession would admit, and we still believe that they are. We think any man that has a capacity for the amount of meanness requisite for a chicken-thief, must certainly reside either in Cincinnation some other of our surburbs. post instead of escaping by jumping off the engine. The baggage master and express messenger were seriously wounded. The passengers were not injured.

Fatal Casualty at Madison, Ind.

We made the following melancholy an nouncement in our extra of yesterday.

Nellie Strader, daughter of Captain S. Strader, of Madison, Ind., was, on Friday afternoon, driving in the streets her favorite poney, attached to a buggy, in which were er two little sisters, one of the couplings of the shafts to the axle having given way, caused the poney to make a plunge.

Miss Nellie jumped off to regulate it, but fell and one of the wheels struck her on the back of the head, killing her almost instantly. Her father and brothers were in New Al-bany. Her mother had just saluted her on passing, a square from the accident. She was the niece of Captain Jacob Strader of

Country Fairs this Month.

The people should profitably improve, in their respective localities, their county fairs.

ANECDOTE OF SARGENT S. PRENTISS .- The late S. S. Prentiss had scarcely made his brilliant debut at the Vicksburg bar, before a plan was set on foot to get him out of the way. It was arranged that a person who, having been born and educated a gentleman, had thrown himself away and was fast becoming a sot, but who was withal a capital marksman, should perform this service for the community. His second bore the challenge. Prentiss quietly read it, and stated that he would answer it at his own time and in his own way. Selecting one of his best shirts, he dispatched it by his body servant, with the following note: "Sir cept your challenge, but with one provisethat you appear on the ground in the accompanying piece of raiment, as it is impossible for me to fight any one who does not observe the externals of a gentleman." The gentleman withdraw the challenge, but kept the shirt, - Boston Post.

THE U-AND-I-TABIANS .- We announced recently the formation of a new sect called by the above name; we have since learned from the founder that its device is to be E-pluribus-U-and-I-num.

Bass Bawl Clus.—A number of young men in New York have organized themselves into a club for the practice of bass singing during the next Presidential campaign.
